Michael Kirby: A Private Life Fragments, memories, friends, 2011.

By Michael Kirby

$35. Special price March 2nd only $30.

Michael Kirby is Australia's most admired judicial figure. He has written and lectured extensively about the law, but has rarely revealed the private man. In this series of recollections we learn about the real Michael Kirby. He opens up as never before about being gay, about his thirty-year relationship with Johan van Vloten, religion and his love of James Dean among other things. Beautifully written, reflective and generous, this is a work the many thousands of Kirby admirers here and around the globe have been waiting for.

Michael Kirby: Paradoxes Principles. 2011.

By A. J. Brown.

$60. Special price March 2nd only $50.

Internationally, Kirby has been a leader in law reform and human rights with the OECD, UNESCO, UN Human Rights Commission and the WHO Global Program on AIDS. He is a former world president of the International Commission of Jurists, and in 1993-1996 was the first Australian to serve as a Special Representative of the UN Secretary-General for Human Rights.
