

MENTAL HEALTH FOR LAW STUDENTS AND LAWYERS

Join VWL and the Deakin Law Students' Society to hear from representatives from Geelong Headspace and LIV Young Lawyers on mental health and its challenges for law students and lawyers

Phoebe Blank: Phoebe works at Tresscox Lawyers. She was admitted as a lawyer in 2013, having attained her Bachelor of Laws and Bachelor of Commerce at Deakin University. Phoebe has sound experience in assisting businesses in workplace relations matters, including discrimination, litigation and workplace training. She is currently completing a Masters of Employment Law at the University of Melbourne.

She was peer elected as the 2017 President of the Law Institute of Victoria Young Lawyers, where she represents over 9,000 young lawyers and students. In her role, she mentors a number of student and graduate lawyers and assists young practitioners early in their career. Phoebe's focus for the LIV this year is on mentoring and on mental health and wellbeing.

Malcolm Scott: Malcolm has a Bachelor of Science Degree with a Major in Psychology and has worked across disability, homelessness and mental health services since 1999. Malcolm has managed multidisciplinary teams including clinical and non-clinical staff and currently manages a team of around 24 plus private contracted Allied Health staff including GPs. Malcolm's management work has led to the development and utilisation of staff performance development and management frameworks and the use of reflective practice in a multidisciplinary space in order to support staff achieving their maximum potential.

Malcolm has been the Manager of Headspace Geelong since 2013 and has previously worked with Neami National as a Service and Regional Manager in Sydney NSW and also works with the Royal Rehabilitation Centre Sydney.
