

REPRODUCTIVE JUSTICE

workplace rights & obligations

Victorian Women Lawyers' Justice Committee are proud to present this panel discussion.

This Women's Health Week, learn about the rights that you have when it comes to your reproductive health and working.

Many women face reproductive issues and challenges, which make working life more difficult. Come along to understand not only your rights as an employee but also the obligations that employers and managers may have when it comes to these concerns.

Date Thurs, 7 Sept 2023
Time 6pm - 8.30pm (including light refreshments)
Location Clayton Utz
Level 18, 333 Collins St
Melbourne
Cost Free for VWL members
$10 for non-member
Register <https://vwl.asn.au/events-3/>

Bonney Corbin (she/they) is an urban and regional planner specialising in health and community planning, with postgraduate qualifications in gender based violence and conflict resolution. Bonney Chairs the Australian Women's Health Network, is Head of Policy at MSI Reproductive Choices (Australia), a board member at Genetic Alliance Australia, and on the Policy Advisory Group at Women With Disabilities Australia. Bonney was a facilitator of Hidden Forces, a collaborative white paper on reproductive coercion in Australia published by MSI.

Nikola Prestia is a Partner in the Workplace Relations and Safety team at HR Legal. Nikola is passionate about assisting workplaces to adapt to constantly evolving and changing workplace laws and practices. Nikola advises clients across a variety of different industries and enjoys delving into the differing aspects of a workplace, an employment relationship or dispute to reach a mutually agreed outcome where possible.

Cr Sarah Carter is the Mayor of Maribyrnong and has served four consecutive terms since her election to council in 2008. Sarah is a passionate advocate for her community in Melbourne's inner west with a particular interest in advocating for the women's reproductive rights. She has served on more than 20 committees including as a Director of LeadWest, MAV Human Services Committee and VLGA Women's Policy Advisory Committee.

Joanna Abraham will be moderating this session. She is a Lecturer at the College of Law and the Vice President of Victorian Women Lawyers. Joanna was awarded the Justice Award at the 2020 Victorian Multicultural Awards for Excellence for her work in Human Rights. Joanna is passionate about championing intersectional diversity, both in the legal profession and wider community and is an advocate for greater workplace flexibility in the legal profession. She sits on the Boards of Victorian Multicultural Women and Afri-Aus Care.

With thanks to our sponsor

CLAYTON UTZ